Word from the Mayor

Hello and Welcome to Pointe-Claire!

Moving can be a laborious and stressful experience for anyone. But once you've unpacked a few boxes, had your first meal and start to finally settle into your new home, there is no better feeling.

My name is Tim Thomas, and it's a pleasure to introduce myself and to welcome you to Pointe-Claire.

As Mayor, my primary role is to represent all citizens of the City. I preside over Council meetings and sign legal documents as the principal representative of the City of Pointe-Claire. In addition to ensuring that by-laws and resolutions are revised or carried out, I must make sure that revenues are collected and spent according to the law.

In 2023, we launched our new Strategic Plan, which is an expression of the many commitments that we are making and the actions that we will take to contribute to the development of our community in a responsible manner. We are also striving to preserve the unique identity of Pointe-Claire, especially its quality of life. The Plan highlights the collective efforts of citizens, elected officials, administrators, and employees. We will continue to promote our beautiful municipality and draw on our community spirit to create the city of tomorrow.

Thank you for choosing to live in Pointe-Claire. We hope this guide will help you familiarize yourself with your new city and all it has to offer.

Hello and Welcome to Your New City!

As City Manager, I report to the City Council, and act as a link between the Council and the administration. My mandate is to provide support to elected officials and the City's administration to ensure that the Council's orientations are implemented and that political wishes are carried out. Portrait of the City

About My City

Pointe-Claire is a municipality within the urban agglomeration of Montréal with a growing population of over 33,000 residents.

The City borders the Lake Saint-Louis, a picturesque body of water on which many of the City's nautical programming is offered. There are 50 public parks and green spaces located on the territory for residents to enjoy, most notably the Terra-Cotta Natural Park. This urban green space spans almost 40 hectares and offers its visitors 4.4 kilometres of hiking trails.

The City is also known for its extensive canopy of mature trees throughout its territory. This blend of nature and urban life is one of the many advantages of living in Pointe-Claire.

The City is located between two major highways—Autoroute Félix-Leclerc (40) to the north and Autoroute du Souvenir (20) to the south—making it well-positioned for transportation and mobility. Pointe-Claire offers a special taxi service for seniors, with dedicated local routes within the area. Additionally, residents have access to an extensive network of public bus services and the Exo commuter train, which extend across Montreal and its surrounding areas.

An Ideal Place to Settle Down

With several elementary schools and high schools on its territory, and an extensive leisure, sports and cultural programming, Pointe-Claire is an attractive living environment for all ages.
